July 6. The Junepus experiment must be regarded as absurdly successful. I have all the symptoms of 16 and even earlier - great physical restlessness and appetite for hard athletic work - also the vague aspirations and heedlessness of Thine - utter disinclination for mental work, too, as at that age. Further, I seem to have created in my own all the conditions of my own youth. I spend the day playing at camping out; I sail a canoe, I explore islands, I build beachwaters - ~ etc. etc. I am living almost entirely in milk, yet I have no tendency to get fat, have indeed got much thinner. But the mental lassitude and devil-may-care-ness is very marked

We then went upon the Actual Plane. Eve had got certain visions which struck me as significant, chiefly because of some similarity between them & the later Visakam visions. "1/5' all in the egg" & so on, from a wizard who is in charge of a naked boy (Horus, as I suppose)

After various minor adventures we came upon the Wizard and the Boy in the Wood. The Wizard is a (27.90 = 30?? more likely 1 Atn I) Magus, always throwing visions at Eve to put her off; but she appealed to me, and he then answered.

He gave his name first as AMALANTRE (with the ^{Tau} 51)
I asked for explanation of the E, and got AE, then H, then AH.

This gave him as $729 = 9^3 = 3^6$. I asked (not disturbing this number, of course) for a geometrical figure. She got a 'even triangle', of equivalent magical value,

(apparently equilateral with an H at two angles, nothing at the third) and then a 'solid' figure 4. These two together do of course indicate a cube of three or three-squared, in a way; but the Wizard, getting a clearer idea of her question, broke right away and said "the segment of an octagonal column": that is, the combination of the figure 8 and the Phallus. Now this pointed straight to Baphomet. Could this word then be after all the combination of the 8 and the 3, as it should be? For years I have striven to get a satisfactory shelling for Baphomet, and failed utterly. The Wizard gave

BAFOMETH, ^(Hebrew, not Greek) and explained O as 1 and E as 5

I asked whether TH was one letter or two, and got the answer 'one' - a Tau, 51. I then asked what must be added to make the word eightfold; but even before he could answer I saw ^(mentally) that a final 7 would make its numeration

729. Now I saw the justification, Baphomet being traditionally Mithras. It now means therefore quite simply Wonderful and beautiful.

58. Jan 30. 3 p.m.

Marvelous and insinuating.

But from these Op^s I obtain the true Way of the Tao.
"Violent effort" is not contrary to that Way if one's nature happens to be violent effort. The mistake is rather to use introspection, to criticise one's own will too closely. This (incidentally) is quite in accord with modern psychological teaching.
