This sort of thing went on for a long

But now comes the "funny" bit I looked for my lunch. The it should have been. I exclaimed "Jesus Christ" following it up with ^{eyes & O.P.T. for underling it} a mental oblique at it. But instantly my eyes fell on the

after the first remark that it seemed all one sentence: "I forgive him." Instantly the connexion with my laugh!

I also thought of Scott's "Fire King" from: "Bene grace, Notice Name (as might say to Babylon.)" He unwittingly said — "I've eyed the channel whether I had not inadvertently

Well, let me feed and swooze.

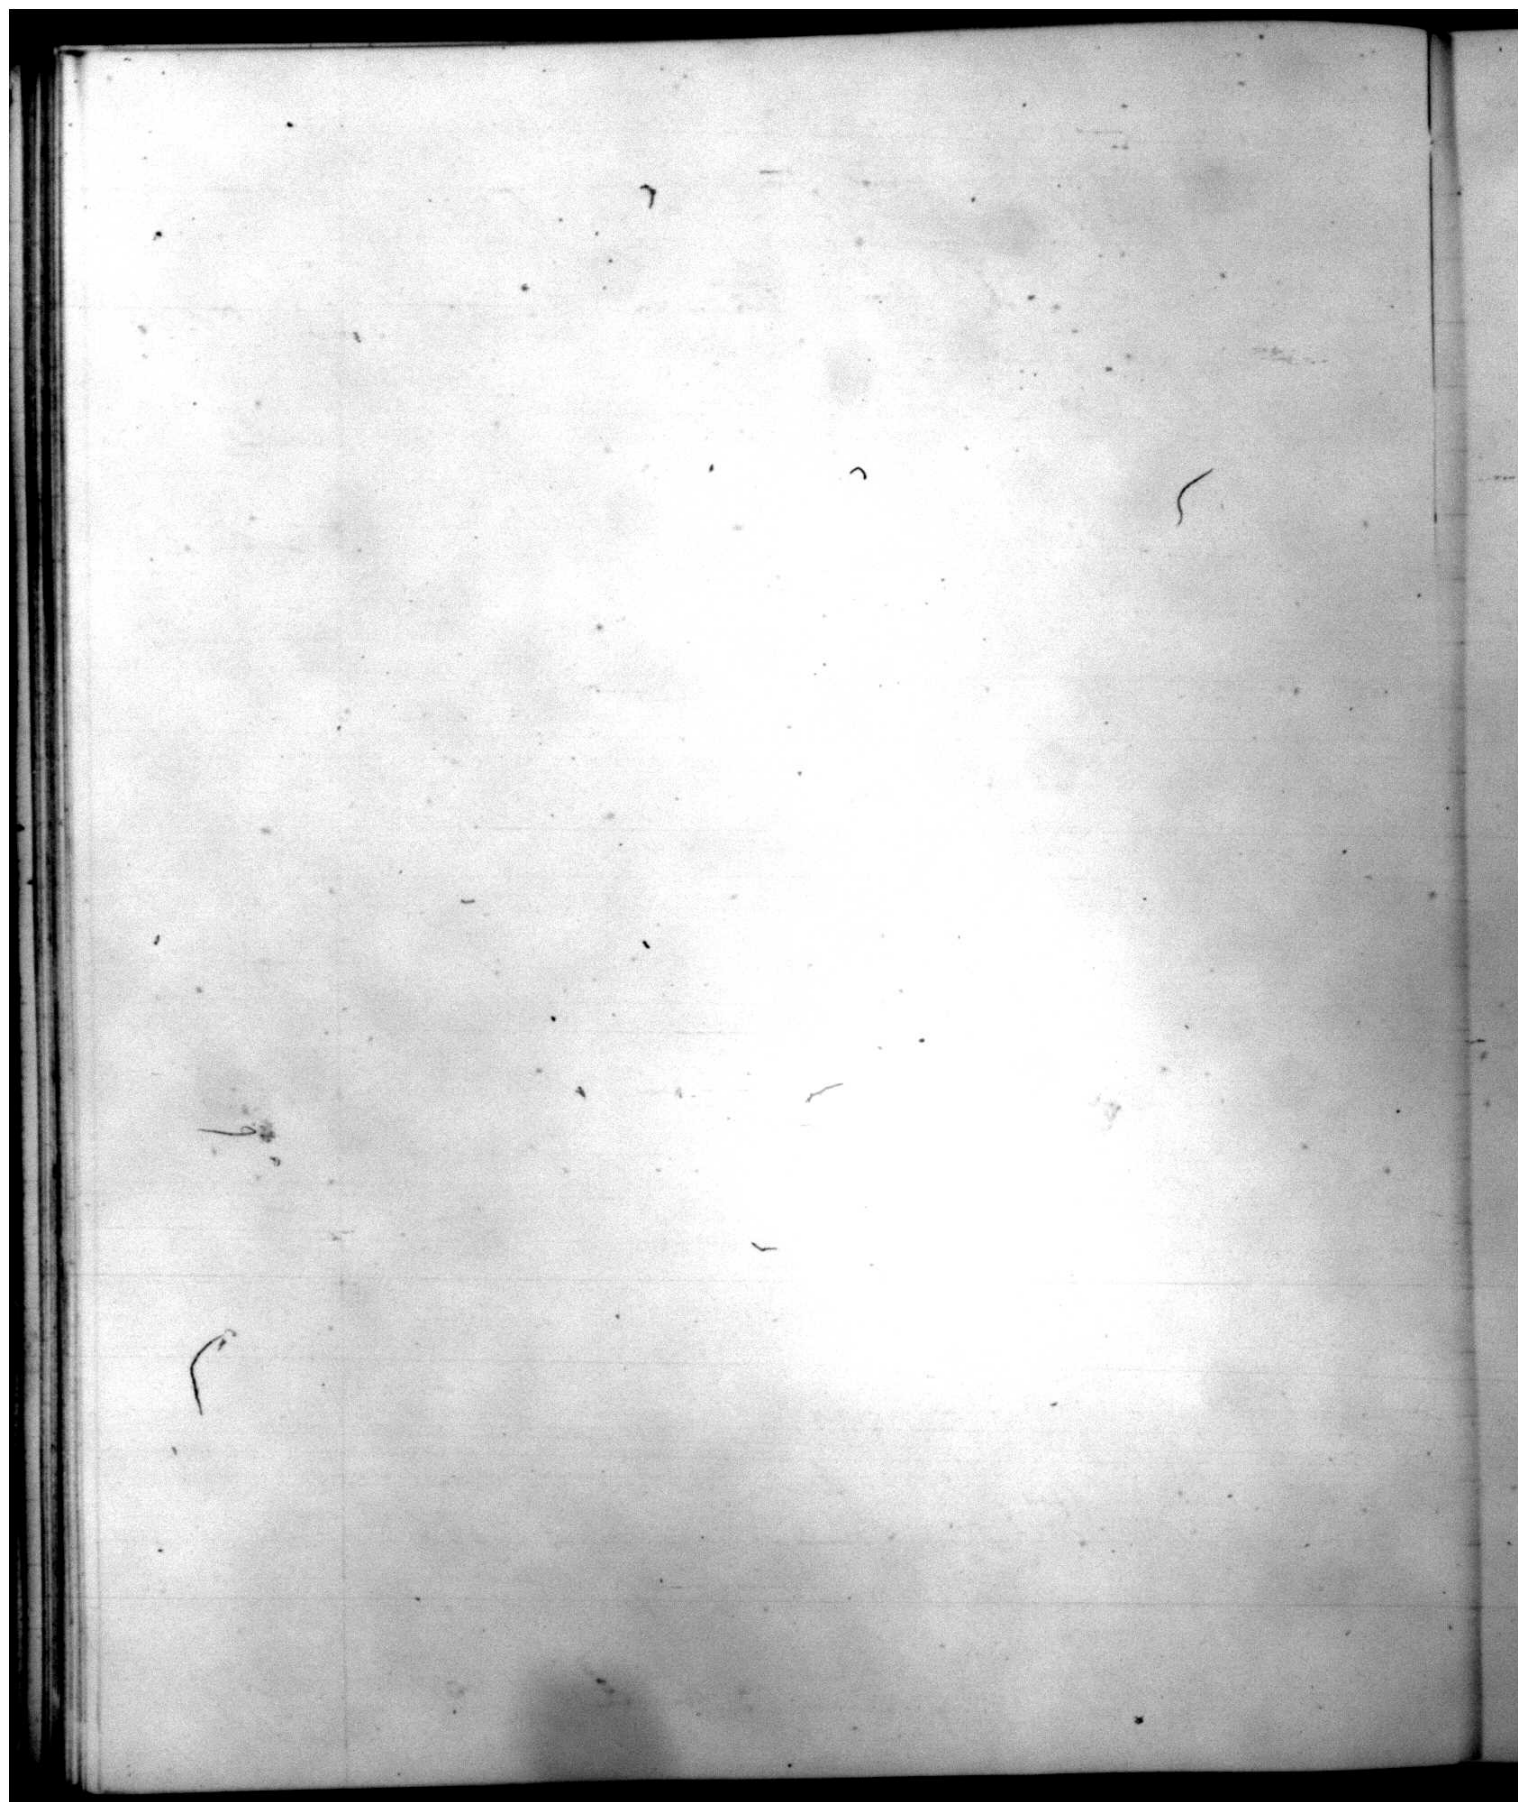

Sat. 7.25 p.m. I noted last night that this illumination was clearly the AVD for which I called in the Word of the Equinox. This AVD is the Pure Fire into whose

9.21 P.M. I am reading "The Magic Glasses": and I am beginning to realize faintly of how many and gross deceptions I have been cleansed in my ascent into the

'unassayed of purpose' and 'delivered from the lust of result' flowing forth freely 'under will' as it should;
now keep on its waters there shall bloom deathless the Lotus may sit and glow with Silence;

and of its leaves, ^{and buds} shall virgins twine their garlands of young

I am wholly pure before Him;

The Gods have compelled this programme which is therefore much better than anything we have devised.

1.30

I imagined pipe had gone out & that I had gone through a complicated, bungled, attempt to relight it.

Just going to drop asleep while reading, found myself inserting phrases in the text — momentary illusion of having read them.
(All made 'quite'!).

These two are very similar symptoms of my cerebral anaemia.

Again, earlier, was too weak to make the effort to bring conversation to a close i.e. round it off, on to decide to finish the chapter of book & go to sleep.

2.20

Somewhat in the course of my meditation induced me to invoke Babelon.

It was an indiscretion. It immediately started a wonderful series of the most blinding visions of colours & patterns mostly, folding and unfolding with extraordinary passion, changing yet even the same. I saw almost at once that I had committed a rash act. My brain is dangerously over excited. I cut short everything by will.

I compose myself to sleep after numerous other adventures.

Babelon!

If anything should come to me in sleep, I having the Book of the Law in my hands, the star 418 on my breast, and the Ring of Nank on my finger, let it come!

Apart from all that I have had yet again a very serious warning not to permit the excitement of my brain to go on much further.

7.45 I have been thinking out my Will, now it has been purified by Time

Assume that I obtain at once the required Energy to effect my projects. I am to eschew the least tendency to action, especially the violent feminine character

I am to construe it patiently as model of society.

It follows from the above that perfect ease depends on arranging for me to exercise my faculties normally.

(I notice constantly during the past year or more that the slightest stimulus such as the receipt of a letter which I could answer with some prospect of advantage to the C.W. immediately relieved the strain on me.)

It is therefore absolutely vital to arrange for me to have work to do of the kind for which I am fitted.

In the past I have felt that I was debarr'd from any work at all except that of ^{some} ~~early~~ Tait & Baur which might come to bear out centuries ahead, and I felt it therefore my supreme duty to give myself to such work with out consideration of the danger to health & reason which I knew full

This the only is implied in that very superficial & sketchy book "The D. of a D. F."
The trouble with Peter & Loo was their idleness and their lack of vision of a fault in their G.W's.
No sooner do they stop the heron than they have a laboratory to work in & something they want to work at. Had they been without that the stream of heavy work to do would have driven them back to the use of the day or some similar daylong facility.
These remarks apply to anyone who has anything to be at all, and the more spiritual energy a person has, the more urgent is his necessity. These considerations explain in greater detail than has hitherto been done the mechanism of the psychology responsible for the fact that so many great men have resorted to drugs or debauchery of some kind, with the alternative of suicide if it doesn't work.
