She was never anything of the Likewise, you are utterly

My dear Gerald

I hope you will allow me to congratulate you on having so far advanced in painting that even the jury (it can see something new & therefore to be suppressed) in your work. You are better than I thought you were: I have been boasting you of late for your puerile delight in the measure of toleration contemptuously accorded you by the ~~in~~ author.
You may now sit in the same box as I - it is the best for a true view of the stage.

For the rest, I hope you will not as reported make Cyprus your farthest point. It is too much like St Paul's 3rd journey. What you want is open sea or open sand - no damned objects to catch your eye. And 8 weeks is pure folly; 8 months is more to the point. I have been doing silence here - you have no idea till you do it - how perfect a recreation it is to feel alone in the dark with not a thought astir.

I can already think - I shall be able to work soon.
For you, go where you can sleep in the open air for weeks together, without even a tent. That is another great secret of moral = mental = physical health. There is always a great struggle to get such conditions - so I find; but - "once in How the delighted Spirit pants for joy!"

Yours ever, more than ever, Alen ter
